

Since 2013, the IFFD Awards are presented every year to national, regional or local governments recognized for the promotion of family perspective policies and for best appreciation and to persons or private entities for their contribution to promoting family values around the world.

The IFFD Family Awards Ceremony is celebrated every year in the United Nations Headquarters, as part of the IFFD Briefing, a side event during the annual session of the Commission for Social Development, in February. Due to the pandemic, it was celebrated online in 2021, as it will happen in 2022.
